

Call for Papers

The 20th Nordic GIS Conference 2008

Radisson SAS Hotel Fredrikstad, 15th–17th October 2008

GI Norden is a Nordic non-profit organisation within the field of geomatics, and was established in 1989. The objectives of GI Norden are to develop the general and professional knowledge of geographic information and promote geographic information as a part of the infrastructure of the Nordic societies. The main activity is the arrangement of a yearly GIS conference for professionals on an ambulant basis, with five years cycles between the Nordic countries. The participants are private and public producers and users of geographic information. The conference will be held with plenary and parallel sessions. There will also be demonstrations of solutions, and informal and formal social activities.

We would like to have proposals for papers within the field of GIS, linked to subjects like:

- Climate change
- Universal design
- Health
- GIS infrastructure
- The High North
- Visualisation and cartography
- Status within GI in the Nordic countries
- The use of GIS in the public sectors

The Programme committee will be free to select some of these subjects, from the papers sent in. The program should contain at least one presentation in English through the whole conference.

The proposal shall consist of the following information:

- Title of the paper or the subject
- 10 lines describing the subject and the main discussions of the paper
- Name of speaker
- Length of the speech
- Name, address, telephone number and e-mail address

Please send this to  : roger@geoforum.no within 7th March 2008.
